Fifty-First Congress.

Interviews on the Approaching Session.

IT WILL BE AN IMPORTANT ONE.

Many Questions, Both National and International, Must Necessarily Come Up for Consideration—Other Dispatches From Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Senator John H. Mitchell, of Oregon, who has settled down in Washington for the winter, believes that the first session of the Fifty-first congress will, by reason of the many important questions, national and international, that must necessarily come up for consideration, be the most important of any since those sessions during which the great reconstruction measures were enacted.

The senator is of opinion that a financial crisis based on the free and equal recognition of gold and silver is demanded. He says that the present coinage law, the mints, and the treasury operate unjustly on the producers of silver, and maintains that foreign lead mixed with silver ought to pay duty.

"The internal revenue," the senator thinks, is likely to be reduced if not entirely repealed. "Will congress favor the granting of subsidies to steamship companies?" Senator Mitchell said: "In my judgment yes, in the interest of increased trade and enlarged commerce with our neighboring nations, especially our South American neighbors; but such aids should not be confined to one section of the country, but each sea coast section should be included in any subsidies granted, and with a view to strengthening trade relations between all sections. In this connection a line of lines of steamers between South America—Valparaiso, for instance—and Portland, Ore., or Puget sound, or San Francisco, or indeed, all three, should be considered whenever the subject is up."

Representative Lewis E. Payson, of Illinois, speaking on the outlook for the next congress said: "I look for an extremely interesting, not to say, stormy session of congress. I think the organization will be effected without serious difficulty, because the contest so far has been a good natured one, and will continue so. I have no doubt. Of course we, in Illinois, are all for Mr. Cannon for speaker, and earnestly, and while I am not prepared to give any figures, I think his chances are good, as he is the leading western candidate, and I think the west will stand together ultimately in support of Mr. Cannon."

Raum Looks Like Shakespeare.
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Gen. Raum is one of the three men at Washington who are called Shakespearean in their type of head and face, the others being Justice Field and Congressman Thomas B. Reed. Of the three, General Raum is the handsomest, and his looks the most in accord with the recognized portrait of the great bard of Avon. He lives handsomely at 1322 Rhode Island avenue, in a spacious new house of his own planning. Mrs. Raum is Miss Field of Colorado. She is the happy mother of three sons and five daughters. The third married in May last J. Reed Little, a well-known young patent attorney of Washington, and the fourth daughter was wedded Wednesday, the bridegroom being Lieutenant Moses, of the marine corps.

Postoffices on Steamers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Postmaster General Wanamaker, in his forthcoming annual report, will recommend that postoffices be established on the principal steamers that ply between the ports of the United States and Europe, similar to the postal service on railway trains. This would greatly facilitate the delivery of mail matter in countries on both sides of the Atlantic. When the steamers arrive packages could be made up for all the principal distributing points in the country of destination. The German government has been in correspondence with the postmaster general on the subject, and he will ask congress for an appropriation to carry his recommendation into effect.

Miss Barton Back in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Miss Clara Barton returned from Johnston, Pa., last night. Arrangements have been made for a public reception in her honor to be given next Saturday night. After the reception about 200 friends have been invited to partake of a banquet, at which Commissioner Hine has been invited to preside.

Postoffice Burglarized.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Burglars some time yesterday morning forced open the safe of the branch postoffice, in the Graham block, at Forty-second and Halsted streets, and secured $400 in cash and two checks for small amounts. The police and the postoffice inspectors have the case in hand, but thus far they have developed nothing.

Diphtheria and Scarlet Fever.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 28.—Diphtheria and scarlet fever are alarmingly prevalent in this city. It is stated that no funerals of victims of these diseases will be allowed from churches.

MUTINY ON THE LANDSEER.

Two Different Stories That Will Be Investigated by the Courts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The American ship Landseer, from the Philippine island, with sugar for Boston, put into this port yesterday, flying signals of distress. The police steamboat patrol upon boarding the vessel, found a drunken sailor named William Matson in irons, and First Officer Shipp asked Matson arrested on a charge of felonious assault. The prisoner was brought ashore and placed in custody to await a hearing.

Capt. Smith, of the Landseer, died at sea on Sept. 26, and First Officer Shipp took charge of the vessel. He stated that Matson became mutinous and made an attack upon him with a knife, and that it required the assistance of the entire crew to overpower him and place him in irons. Matson claims that he made no attack upon the first officer until the latter threatened him with a belaying pin, and that then he was compelled to draw his knife in self-defense.

Shipwrecked Crew Picked Up.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—The American ship Landseer, which has put into this port, on her way from the Philippine islands to Boston, reports that Oct. 15, when off Cape Hatteras, she picked up Capt. Godfrey and crew of eight men of the schooner Jacob H. Hackett, bound from Savannah for Boston, which vessel was wrecked in a hurricane on Oct. 15. The Hackett is a total loss.

Cronin's Ride to Death

Owner of the White Horse Testifies in Court.

TESTIMONY OF THE THIRD DAY.

Dan Coughlin Hired the Horse and Buggy But It Was Driven Away By a Stranger, Whose Description Is Given By the Witness—Martin Duane Arrested in St. Joseph, Michigan—Meeting of Clan-na-Gael Representatives.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The third day of the Cronin trial was resumed at the usual hour. Patrick Dinan, the livery-stable keeper, testified to the facts in regard to the hiring of a horse and buggy from him by Daniel Coughlin, one of the prisoners, on the day that Dr. Cronin was murdered, substantially as they have heretofore been published. The witness said that Coughlin told him he wanted the horse for a friend. This is the buggy and white horse which carried Dr. Cronin to the Carlson cottage, where he was murdered.

Dinan continued by saying that a stranger came at about 7 that evening and asked for the horse which Coughlin had hired for him. He was given the white horse. The stranger objected, and asked for another. The witness refused to give him another. Then the stranger wanted the side curtains of the buggy put on; but Dinan told him it was dark, and that nobody could recognize him if he wished to be disguised. The stranger grumbled a little, but got into the buggy and drove north, or in the direction of Conklin's house, where Dr. Cronin lived. The stranger wore a light-colored or faded overcoat, and a small, soft, round hat, the latter turned down over his eyes. The man had a week or ten days' beard on his face, of a sandy color, shading to dark at the lower part.

The witness had not seen the man since that time. On the following morning early a policeman came to his stable to know whether or not he had let any one have a white horse the night before. Witness, suspecting something wrong, went to the police station. There he met Dan Coughlin, who cautioned him to say nothing about him, Coughlin's, having hired a horse the day before, because it was known that he and Cronin were not good friends, and it might get him, Coughlin, into trouble.

After a long and severe cross-examination of Dinan by Mr. Forrest, of counsel for the defense, in which the witness was not at all confused, the court adjourned until Monday morning.

Another Arrest Made.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Deputy Sheriff Kennedy, of this city, has made an arrest in St. Joseph, Mich., which is believed to have an important bearing in the Cronin case. The man arrested is Martin Duane, and it is believed that he is the man who drove Cronin to his death on the night of May 4. Mr. Hynes was seen at the Palmer house last night and acknowledged that Duane had been arrested. "I consider it an important arrest," said Mr. Hynes, "but I am not liberty to talk about it at present."

CLAN-NA-GAEL DELEGATES.

A Number of Them Discuss the Cronin Murder Case.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—The general committee of three delegates from each of the Clan-na-Gael camps friendly to Dr. Cronin and others interested in the prosecution fund, sufficient in number to fill a large club room, held a meeting Sunday afternoon at the Grand Pacific. The meeting was in response to a call for the purpose of hearing a report from the executive committee appointed to organize the annual Manchester martyrs' celebration to be held this year by the Cronin Clan-na-Gael camps.

The business of hearing the reports of committees had progressed only a short way when P. W. Dunn, of Peoria, took the floor and moved the reading of an article by John F. Finerty, published in The Citizen and a published letter by Dr. P. McCahey, of Philadelphia, the former of which was an attack on those having charge of the celebration. He was ruled out of order by the chairman, but the meeting by a vote overruled the chairman, and the secretary read the Finerty criticism. It was an arraignment of the committee and all others aiding in the formation of a prosecution fund on the ground that it fostered and perpetuated the present differences in Irish ranks.

Mr. Dunn then presented the following resolution:

Resolved, That we, representatives of the Irish citizens of Chicago, having had our attention directed to an article in The Citizen, desire to place on record our repudiation of John F. Finerty and his paper, and deny his right to speak for any class of citizens but those who yet hang around the decaying body of the triangle.

The resolution met direct opposition.

John Devoy, in a speech which was loudly applauded, said: "I am against this because this isn't the time to begin a wrangle. We ought to answer Finerty, but when we do so we ought to answer all others of the same stripe, and prepare such a document as will smash this conspiracy. We know well enough that the Clan-na-Gael is not responsible for Cronin's assassination, but the people must be made to know it. We are against any man who opposes any project of the people of Chicago or of the country to smash this infernal conspiracy, which will remain a conspiracy so long as the arch-conspirator is not brought to justice."

They say this fund is not necessary.

Was it necessary for the people to contribute to the Anarchist and the "boodle" prosecutions? It is the boodle element that is back of this whole thing. I tell you that it is necessary in order that the head of this thing be brought to justice that four times the amount of money the county board is willing to appropriate shall be supplied for the prosecution. We must follow men to Europe, if necessary, wipe out the jury bribers, and stifle the voice that is whispering "Cronin was a traitor."

"It is not for the conviction of the men on trial we are working, but that boodle element, stronger than the old boodle gang, back of the whole thing."

After an effort to pass a resolution milder in tone than Mr. Dunn's was defeated, the meeting adopted Dunn's resolution, and after appointing committees to arrange for the annual Manchester martyr's celebration, adjourned.

Implicating Alexander Sullivan.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Under date of Oct. 26, 304 North Eighteenth street, Philadelphia, Dr. P. McCahey sends to The Herald an open letter which is exceedingly violent against Alexander Sullivan, but it is chiefly of importance because it makes public the telegrams and cablegrams between Sullivan and Patrick Egan, concerning which the grand jury made such close inquiry directly after the coroner's jury had placed Sullivan under bail. That grand jury, it will be remembered, returned no indictment and made no official mention whatever of Alexander Sullivan, but Dr. McCahey with the same set of facts and the same telegraphic messages before him seems to see farther than the grand jurors did, and in his letter inveighs strongly against Sullivan, accusing him of furnishing convincing proofs by his words and actions that Dr. Cronin had been "removed" long before the body was found.

FIGHT WITH OUTLAWS.

A Sheriff and Posse of Forty Men Beaten by Rube Burrows.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 28.—Sheriff Morris, of Blount county, with a posse of forty men, surrounded Rube Burrows, the train robber and outlaw, and one member of his gang. A pitched battle followed, in which several hundred shots were fired. Deputy Sheriff Henry Anderson and Penn Woodward were killed, and Deputy Sheriff James Herron badly wounded. Five other deputies received slight flesh wounds. The outlaws having shot a gap in the line, rushed through and escaped, the posse being too completely demoralized to attempt pursuit.

The battle took place near Brooksville, Blount county, fifty miles north of this city. Burrows was seen in the vicinity Thursday, and that night a squad of deputy sheriffs surrounded him and his pal at the house of a man named Answorth. When called on to surrender Burrows answered that he would die first, and seizing Answorth's wife he forced her out into the yard and kept her between himself and the officers until he reached the woods and escaped. Sheriff Morris then organized a posse of forty men and started to find the outlaws.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon they came in sight of them, and, scattering out, surrounded them. The posse were armed only with shotguns and pistols, while Burrows and his pal had repeating rifles of large calibre. At the first volley from the outlaws' guns Anderson and Woodward fell dead. Six others were wounded and a gap cut in the line, through which the outlaws dashed and escaped unhurt. Gathering up their killed and wounded, the posse returned to Oneonta, the county seat.

Sheriff Morris then came to this city in search of assistance, and declared he would make no further effort to capture Burrows. The rewards offered by the railroad and express companies that have suffered at the hands of Burrows and his gang aggregate $6,000, but the companies seem to be making no special effort to capture the outlaw. Burrows has become a terror to the average country owner, and his capture is very doubtful.

The battle in Blount county created intense excitement. Penn Woodward, of the posse, who was killed, was a prominent and popular citizen of the county. He leaves a wife and four children. Anderson was unmarried.

PHILADELPHIANS EXCITED.

They Think They Have Tascott, and $50,000 in Prospect.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—The man suspected of being Tascott had a preliminary hearing before a committing magistrate Saturday afternoon on the charge of forgery. He gave his name as Albert Sutherland, and his residence as Chicago, which he left last January. When asked what he did for a living he coolly replied, "I steal."

Upon "Chief Woods" statement that the man might be wanted on a more serious charge, the magistrate held him in $20,000 bail.

The chief had another long talk with the prisoner, and found out that he knew all about Tascott, being fully conversant with all the facts connected with that notorious person's career. He declared that he will not go to Chicago if he can help it. His picture was taken, and a copy forwarded to Chicago.

An ivory handled revolver, such as mentioned in the Tascott descriptions, has been found among the prisoner's effects; also, a deposit book of the National German American bank, of St. Paul, bearing name of W. K. Miliken. G. A. King, a Chicago salesman, who knew Tascott slightly, has seen the prisoner, and says there is a resemblance, but he cannot positively identify the man. "There is a general resemblance between the prisoner's handwriting and specimens of Tascott's."

THE EVENING BULLETIN

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
 Proprietors.

MONDAY, OCT. 28, 1889.

HON. JOHN D. YOUNG, ex-member of Congress and Railroad Commissioner during Governor Knott's term of office, has received the Democratic nomination for County Judge of Bath County.

The Glasgow Times is moved to remark as follows: "Six Kentucky editors have taken better-halves to themselves in the past few months, which leads to the reflection that Kentucky women know a good thing when they see it."

JUDGE W. M. BECKNER, editor, and Hon. Rodney Haggard, ex-editor of the Winchester Democrat are candidates for delegate from Clark County to the Constitutional Convention of Kentucky, in the event the Legislature calls the convention.

The Democrats over in Ohio now open their meetings by reading the 63rd verse of the xxiv chapter Genesis which is as follows:

And Isaac went out to meditate in the field at the eventide; and he lifted up his eyes, and saw, and behold, the camels were coming.

The next thing out will be the Vanceburg Sun, whose banner is inscribed Cox & McCaskey, and shingle reads, "F. H. McCaskey, editor." The paper will be Democratic in politics, a daisy in local news, and, the boys say, a "splendid medium for advertising." We hope their "Sun" may never set under a cloud.—Vanceburg Times.

BOTH the Dakotas have worked into their new constitutions an important modification of the jury system. Their constitutions contain provisions for forming the petit jury system by giving the Legislature power to enact laws providing that in civil cases in courts, verdicts may be rendered by three-fourths of the jurors. The old fashioned unanimous verdict has been done away with.

Of course all the saloons in town were closed yesterday as the law requires. But a good many callers were seen going in and out the side entrances, and at night the gaslight was shining through the transoms and the clink of glasses could be heard by church-going people. Besides all this there were several drunken men seen on the streets. The Sunday law in Maysville is a dead letter.

At the banquet given in Chicago to the Pan-American delegates a few days ago, Senator Farwell made a speech which, if it had been made by a Democrat, would have been denounced as ultra-free trade doctrine. He said: "We must offer to you our exports as cheaply as others do; and to that end I shall favor such legislation as will bring about this result, even to the extent of uninterrupted trade between all the countries of this hemisphere." To one who has studied the effect of high tariffs making high prices, this utterance could have but one meaning—the Illinois Senator favors a radical reform of the tariff far in advance of the Mills bill.

Rights of Women.

Mrs. Josephine J. Henry discussed the question of the equal rights of women before the Democratic Club at Covington a few evenings ago.

She opened her remarks by telling the story of a Spanish girl who started out in life with the purpose of doing something for the world, but found that her resources by the laws made by men were so circumscribed that she despaired of her mission.

But women may now be found who possess greater courage and character, and the time is soon coming when men and women will be co-workers in shaping the laws and institutions of the country.

She claims that the three great bulwarks that rise like Himalayas to retard the progress of God's justice are ecclesiastical tyranny, civil law and social customs.

In this day of ours the responsibility of bread-winning as well as that of educating the future citizens devolves largely upon the women. These responsibilities have brought her in direct contact with the laws, civil and social of our sociology. There are laws in the Kentucky statutes that are a disgrace to a State renowned for the bravery and chivalry of her sons.

With the marriage ceremony in Kentucky a woman dies a cruel death; she becomes a non-entity with no more power to maintain her individuality than a marble statue. She may be rich in houses and lands, but she comes from the marriage altar not even the legal possessor of the clothes on her back. Without the privilege or use of any of her estate during her life, or power to will it at her death, and frequently the last man of the house happens to be a woman. That the husband not only has the entirety of the estate during the wife's life, but after her death can marry again and use it to support his second wife.

Change the aspect of affairs and let the dread angle call the wife and mother from the household and the husband is left in undisturbed possession of the joint labors of both.

If the husband dies the estate is divided among kindred who were never interested in the couple during life, and who await the bereavement with joyful expectations.

A widow with nothing absolutely her own is a kind of a person the world soon tires of, and there are many who would like to expedite her departure to the other world if wishing could do it.

The mother in Kentucky has not the shadow of a claim to the child she has almost entered into the dark valley to give life to. Thanks to the magnanimous men in the States of Kansas, Iowa and New Jersey at least woman's office in social life is no longer chiefly a child-bearer, but she is also made a co-partner of their offspring as well as worldly possessions.

The pulpit, press and Legislatures have been silent on such barbarism as allows a father to will a child from the breast of its mother. We have seen that by Kentucky law a married woman is according to Blacks'one, a perpetual minor, and the woman has no legal claim on her child, and the man who would vote for the continuance of such laws does not consider he is a child of his mother as well as his father.

She closed by urging the members of the society to endeavor to secure legislation that will give women equality before the law.

Judge Menzies was called on for a speech, and he argued in justification of Kentucky laws that single women might will their own property, which he thought was a liberal concession. There were many other lawyers called upon, but they asked time to file an answer. The men received a terrible shaking up from several of the lady speakers. In fact, tar was burned.

Mayslick Centennial.

The celebration of the centennial of the Mayslick Baptist Church made known some interesting historical facts in that church's history. The church was organized November 28, 1789, by Rev. Wm. Wood, pastor of the Baptist Church at Washington, which is four years older than the Mayslick Church, and by Rev. James Garrard, who afterwards was Governor of Kentucky for two terms.

The constituent members were David Morris, Cornelius Drake, Lydia Drake and Ann Shotwell. The most prominent of the early members, John Shotwell and William Allen joined them a few years later.

The church has been served by fifteen pastors, among whom are some of the first men of their day, notably: Walter Warder, Gilbert Mason, S. L. Helm, W. W. Gardner and Cleo N. Keyes.

Walter Warder served the church from 1814 till 1836, a period of 22 years. He baptized more than 1,000 in the membership of the church. During one year, 1828, he received about 500, and within the bounds of the Bracken Association he baptized more than 1,000 that year.

Since her origin 2,359 have been received as members, and 1,901 of these by baptism.

Ten churches, in whole or in part, have been organized out of her members. Of these, the Lewisburg Church, Mt. Pisgah, Ewine, the Reformed Church, of Mayslick, and the Colored Baptist Church, of Mayslick, are living.

The church has licensed and ordained nine ministers, of whom only one is living—Rev. Joshua Hickman, one of the leading ministers of Missouri, and was, with the church upon this occasion and contributed much to its enjoyment. The history of the church will be published soon.

A young man asked a lawyer of Montreal to find out what was the fortune of a young woman of that city. The lawyer went to work and in time reported that the lady was worth at least $100,000. The client seemed satisfied, promised to pay liberally, soon married the young woman and sent the lawyer a check for a rather small amount. The lawyer sent in a bill and the young man wouldn't pay it. Then followed a law suit and publicity.

Judge Simrall, of Louisville, says that the lawyer who can not argue an ordinary case in thirty minutes, either has very little in his case or he does not understand it. And so the demand is to be made for shorter speeches in our courts. We have long wondered why people objected to long sermons, and yet had nothing to say against long speeches in our court houses, Legislatures and Houses of Congress. We bid Judge Simrall God-speed in his reform. Let the good work go on till we will have short speeches from lawyers, from politicians, from Legislators and from members of Congress. There is far less excuse for long speeches than for long sermons. If preachers are to be shortened, let all public speakers be shortened in proportion. We know a lawyer who declined to go to church "because the minister preached too long sermons," while that same lawyer seldom spoke less than three hours, and he made one speech, the one on which he chiefly prided himself, which was fourteen hours in length. "Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us," etc.—Dr. Eaton in Western Recorder.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

CHESTER.

It is rumored that we will have several weddings. Miss Isabel Richeson will soon have her new school house completed. Mr. G. N. Holiday's new brick residence will be completed in a few days. Mrs. Roe Carr, after a few days visit to her friends in Lexington, has returned home. Mrs. Laura Mason, who has been ill for the past few months, died Wednesday morning. Misses Brittle and Olivia Hicks entertained a number of their intimate friends last evening, Lotto being the principal game. Miss Lucille Calvert left yesterday morning for Lexington, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Newton Vance, to visit her cousin, Mrs. C. Boughner. Miss Maggie Rudy gave her friends quite a delightful entertainment Thursday evening. Supper was served at 11 o'clock. All enjoyed themselves hugely.

MAYSICK.

The third of the long procession of autumn weddings took place Wednesday at the Presbyterian Church in Mayslick. Miss Sallie M. Poage, daughter of W. T. Poage, and Mr. James Darnall, of Flemingsburg, were the principals. The wedding was a pretty post prandial affair. The little church was beautifully lighted with a gilt of sun shine streaming through the stained glass windows mingling with the subdued light from a score of electric burners. The floral accessions composed of every variety of chrysanthemums were arranged about the altar, with skill and beauty by the accomplished wife of the officiating minister. The ushers were Mr. John P. McCartney and James D. Dudley, of Lexington, and E. C. Poage and G. B. Taylor, of Mayslick. Prof. Frost presided at the organ rendering a number of voluntaries exuberantly while the audience was assembling and giving the grand old wedding march by Mendelssohn as the bridal party filed in and out of the church. The bride is a well-known and popular young lady. She wore a pretty traveling gown of grey ladies' cloth, with hat to match. The groom is a well-known stockman of Fleming, and he and his bride made a handsome finish to the quartette. Mr. Tom Darnall and Miss Sallie Shauklin, best man and maid of honor formally the bride and groom. The bridal tour will embrace the Federal Capital and other Eastern points, for some two weeks duration.

Every male citizen of Versailles over 14 years of age and under 75 regardless of color went hunting on Monday last. Several flocks of birds and any number of rabbits came into town seeking refuge and are now making their headquarters in the gardens—Blue-Grass Clipper.

The first sheep introduced into any part of the present territory of the United States were brought from England to Jamestown, Va., by the London Company in 1609. They had increased to three thousand head in 1648. In 1884 more than a million of sheep grazed on the territory of Kansas.

Harvesting of all kinds is completed except gathering a few late apples. The crops for the season just ended have been very abundant. Small grains have been fully up to the average, while the potato and apple crop have rarely been excelled. Taking the season as a whole, the labors of the farmers have been abundantly rewarded.

It is said that the extraordinary abundance of quail, squirrels, rabbits, and in fact game of all kinds, is due to the mild weather of last winter. During the entire winter of 1888-89, there was no day that game could not obtain sustenance, and no time was there even for a few hours any weather cold enough to freeze even the most unprotected birds or other game. The result was that the opening spring found many more birds and small animals at large than usual.

We noticed on a farm a few days ago a new mower standing in the weeds, and a cultivator sticking in the ground at the end of a row of corn and yet that farmer, in all probability, joins in the old complaint about "hard times" and the "oppressed farmer." Many farmers are guilty of allowing the profits on a wheat crop or a bunch of hogs to leak out through carelessness and inattention to the details of farm management, and wonder why their neighbors are more fortunate.—Columbia (Mo.) Statesman.

The Danville Advocate whispers the following truth in the ears of its country farmers, which could be heeded to advantage by numbers of Mason County's sons of toil: "Farmers who complain of hard times this year should quit the business and try something else. Every acre of land in this country has been wonderfully productive, or could have been made so by proper attention. If there have been any failures it cannot be attributed to the soil or the season, but to mismanagement. A farmer, therefore, who is not able to make both ends meet and have a surplus when the approaching winter sets in has missed his calling, and should no longer attempt an impossibility, as its evident there is something lacking that nature is not directly responsible for."

As large as our current exports of live cattle to Great Britain appear in the weekly reports of the foreign trade, a much better idea of the heavy increase over last year is obtained by comparison of larger periods. In the first eight months of 1888 that country imported from ours 105,200 cattle; in the same part of this year 182,000—a gain of over 73 per cent. The percentage of gain in sheep is very large, but for all that the total of sheep making up this trade for the eight months was only 18,690. The export sheep trade is not liable to become a source of great national revenue, but if anything like the present sale of cattle can be kept up it should mean decided good to the future of cattle growing. It is doubtful, though, whether we will have many such years in exporting cattle as this one has been,

THE Springfield Leader tells of a man in that county who has passed the ninety-fourth mile-stone on his long journey in life, and is still hale and hearty. He has been an inveterate user of coffee and tobacco for eighty years, both of which we are told are exceedingly injurious to health. It is stated for that length of time he has never failed to drink twelve cups of coffee a day. Estimating that the cups hold half a pint, he has gotten outside of 175,200 pints, or 21,800 gallons, equal to 545 barrels, enough almost to float the Great Eastern.

The other cases for damages were continued, to await the rulings in the above action.

A Royal Wedding.

Princess Sophia, of Germany,
Weds the Duke of Sparta.

PROMINENT PEOPLE PRESENT.

The Duke Takes the Bride to His Own Palace, Where a Brilliant Banquet is Held—A Serious Fire in Glasgow—The Lord Mayor's Dilemma Solved—Other Foreign News.

ATHENS, Oct. 27.—The day was a most beautiful one, the sun shining as it shines only in Greece, and all the elements seeming to concur in happy auspices of the wedding of the Princess Sophia, of Germany, to the Duke of Sparta. A gorgeous procession, escorted by an imposing array of cavalry, left the royal palace at 11 o'clock. The guests occupying the carriages comprised the Emperor and Empress of Germany, the Empress Frederick, the King and Queen of Denmark, the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Princess Victoria and Maud, of Wales; Marie, of Greece, Victoria and Margaret, of Prussia; Prince Victor, of Wales; the Prince of Mecklenburg-Schwerin; the hereditary Prince and Princess of Saxe, Meiningen and other members of royal families, beside a goodly number of people of only less exalted rank.

Following the line of carriages came a magnificent state carriage, drawn by six prancing black chargers, and containing Queen Olga of Greece and the blushing bride. The most brilliant of all the brilliant uniforms adorning the persons of royalty was that of the Emperor William, which, as well as the robes of the Empress, fairly blazed with diamonds. There was great enthusiasm among the people, who thickly crowded the route of the procession. The wedding service was elaborate and occupied an entire hour. Afterward the cortege returned by a different route amid scenes of unabated demonstrations on the part of the populace. The marriage was then solemnized again according to the simple Lutheran rite in the king's private chapel.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Duke of Sparta brought his wife from the royal palace to his own palace, amidst the cheers of the people. The bride, pale but smiling graciously, acknowledged the greetings of the throng with becoming grace. All the diplomats present in Athens were invited to a banquet in honor of the occasion last night at the duke's palace. It was a brilliant affair and the display of wedding presents was a dazzling one. Chief among these were the gifts of the czar, consisting of a set of brilliants, a silver and crystal tea set and a captain's uniform of the Nova regiment for the duke.

The Lord Mayor's Dilemma Solved.
LONDON, Oct. 28.—The London court of aldermen having declined to accede to the request of the Lord Mayor-Elect Sir Henry Isaacs, that out of regard for the views of his co-religionists, he be permitted to walk on the occasion of the coming lord mayor's procession, which this year falls on a Saturday, the Jewish Sabbath, a compromise has been finally reached. Sir Henry will ride in the state carriage as has been the custom from time immemorial, but on reaching the Jewish portion of the city, he will alight and walk through Houndsditch and the minorities out of regard for the conviction of the dwellers there on the subject of riding on the Sabbath. He will then re-enter the state carriage and the procession will proceed in the usual manner.

An Exciting Fire in Glasgow.
LONDON, Oct. 28.—There was an exciting fire at Glasgow early Sunday morning. The wool market was destroyed and the flames spread to a number of thickly peopled lodging houses, surrounding the market building. There was an extensive panic among the thousands of inmates, and at least 300 persons rushed into the street clad only in their night clothing and without saving any of their effects. A number of the fugitives were more or less bruised and hurt, but no serious casualty is reported. The loss on the market building and dwellings is heavy, but the exact figures are not learned.

Movement of Troops.
LONDON, Oct. 28.—Extensive movements, among the troops of Germany along the frontier of late have led to some speculation as to what military operation was contemplated. It is now explained that the movements in question were only part of the necessary changes in the distribution of the forces, made necessary by the establishment of a new army corps.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 28.—The Russian press, in commenting upon the steady increase in the efficiency of Germany's arms, urges the St. Petersburg government to at once add largely to the strength of the Russian artillery stationed along the German frontier.

OUTRAGE ON JEWS.

Their Stores at Delhi, Louisiana, Fired Into by a Mob.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—The Picayune's Vicksburg special says: A. D. Simon and J. Feiber, employees of T. Hirsch, a merchant at Delhi, La., has just arrived here and state that on Saturday morning the stores of several Jewish merchants in Delhi were attacked and fired into by a mob of from fifty to seventy-five men, about 1,000 shots being fired.

Business rivalry and the fact that the Jews were monopolizing trade are given as the causes of the outbreak. The shots were not fired at persons, but into the stores. Simon and Feiber, however, occupied a room in the rear of Hirsch's store, and were in great danger. No one was harmed and none of the Jewish merchants were ordered to leave town, but the informants understood that the people desired native clerks to be employed, and they therefore left.

They say that the town authorities were powerless to protect any one. The windows of several stores were smashed by the bullets. They say that most of the townspeople expressed regret at the outrage. Their story is alleged by many to be a gross exaggeration, the facts being, it is said, that a few drunken revelers did the shooting, and that the townspeople in general had no part in the affair.

PRISONER RELEASED.

And a Policeman Roughly Handled, by a Negro Mob at Nicholasville, Ky.

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky., Oct. 28.—The citizens of this place are greatly incensed over the attempt of a lot of railroad negroes to murder an excellent officer, John Beard, in the discharge of his duty. Men have not been so worked up since Daniel Thomas knocked Policeman Jim Ford in the head.

Beard had arrested a negro named Bob Jordan, and by the time he got to the workhouse a mob of twenty-five infuriated and drunken negroes surrounded him, and before he could be assisted by other police the prisoner was released and Beard was knocked insensible by a mulatto named Jim Combs, from Columbus, O.

The stone thrown struck Beard on the left temple. Combs was found at the house of Bill Farris. He had changed his dude hat and clothes and shaved off his long mustache. He was locked up. Thomas, for striking Ford, got three years in the county jail.

Hotelkeeper Murdered.

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 28.—Jacob Sontag, a well known and popular hotelkeeper here, was murdered yesterday evening by three Hungarians who had applied for admission to the hotel. Being refused admission the Hungarians attempted to force their way in. Sontag tried to close the door, but before he could do so, one of the men drew a stiletto and stabbed Sontag in the breast, causing almost instant death. The men then fled, but one of them, who has been identified as the murderer, has since been captured.

Hippolyte Inaugurated President.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Capt. Dorr of the Dutch steamship Prinz Wilhelm, which left Port-au-Prince on October 18 and arrived at this port yesterday, brings the news that Hippolyte was inaugurated president of Hayti on the 16th with great pomp. He reviewed his victorious army immediately after the ceremony. Great enthusiasm prevailed among the people. All was quiet at Port-au-Prince when the steamer left there.

Fatal Ending of a Quarrel.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28.—The Times-Democrat's Tylertown, Miss., special says: Henry J. Smith shot and killed John Tullis yesterday in a dispute over a debt. Mrs. Tullis says that Smith gave her the lie when she made some statement of the amount due, and that Tullis then struck Smith with a chair, whereupon Smith fired three shots, with fatal effect. The murderer escaped.

Suicide for Four Hundred Dollars.

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Oct. 28.—Frederick Jaeger, who has been in the employ of John Blau's Sons wholesale grocers of this city as a traveling salesman, committed suicide yesterday by hanging. It appears that the firm had detected some irregularities in Jaeger's transactions with country customers and had called him in from the road. An examination of his accounts, which was made Friday, revealed a shortage of about $400.

Railway Brakemen Adjourn.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 28.—The convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Brakemen came to a close Saturday, and most of the delegates departed for home that night. The name of the order was changed from "Brotherhood of Railway Brakemen" to the "Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen." The next place of meeting was fixed at Los Angeles, Cal., and the change in name the constitution remains substantially the same.

Bicycle Record Broken.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 28.—The seventy-two hour bicycle race closed Saturday night at 11 o'clock. Only two of the starters remained in the race, Rhodes and Desmond. Lingley, who led when the race adjourned Friday, did not show up all day owing to over-exertion. The score at the finish was: Rhodes, 919 miles; Desmond, 832 miles. Rhodes has beaten the record for seventy-two hours, which stood previously at 904 miles.

Schooner Abandoned at Sea.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 28.—The schooner Mabel L. Phillips, lumber laden, from this port for Philadelphia, is reported abandoned, dismantled and waterlogged, in the tract of steamers, and an obstruction to navigation. The wreck was last seen northeast by east of Hatteras light.

BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 26.—Secretary Crouse, of the executive board of the striking block coal miners, reports $200 in excess of the needs of the dependents. The dependents are decreasing, while the relief fund is growing. Many "black-legs" are at work, and the strikers have no prospect of winning.
